FOREIGN NEWS ON CITRUS FRUIT

MEXICAN CITRUS FRUIT TO BE EXPORTED TO CANADA

Mexican oranges from the Montmorelos district of the State of Tamaulipas will soon begin moving to Canada, according to a recent report from Assistant Trade Commissioner Ullrich at Mexico City. Canada formerly imported considerable quantities of oranges from this district but there have been no shipments for the past three years.

Refrigeration facilities are being installed in a number of steamers entering Tampico and oranges will be shipped from that port to New York and from there in bond to Montreal during the months of December, January and February. It is now planned to ship 500 boxes of oranges during the first week of December, and these will be followed by additional shipments of from 500 to 1,000 boxes weekly, states Mr. Ullrich. If Mexican oranges meet with favorable reception, it is anticipated that at least 3,000 boxes weekly will be available from this district.
